

zenAud.io now Distributed by Plugivity

Plugivity Distribution and zenAud.io are today proud to announce the release of ALK2 Solo, the 'lite' version of ALK2 "the software looper that knows your arrangement"; providing the essential features of ALK2 at a very affordable price to global markets and Pro Audio resellers worldwide.

zenAud.io, a fairly new company to the industry, founded in 2017 and Plugivity Distribution, a leading distributor of audio software and virtual instruments, are proud to announce the release of ALK2 Solo, the 'lite' version of ALK2 "the software looper that knows your arrangement". zenAud.io's mission is to give live musicians the tools to compete sonically with electronic acts. With ALK2 Solo, zenAud.io provides the essential features of ALK2 at a very affordable price.

ALK2 Solo is a cross between a sequencer and a looper. Like a traditional looper, clips are performed live and subsequently looped to create layers of sound. Like in a sequencer, the loops can be drawn, moved, copied, cut and pasted in a musical arrangement.

When it's time to perform the song, ALK2 Solo will follow your arrangement, pressing the necessary virtual pedals to arm channels, trigger effects, and record and play loops at the right time.

ALK2 Solo is available at the special introductory price of $35 (List $45) from all global and reputable pro audio resellers and music stores listed at Plugivity. Upgrading to the "full" version of ALK2 is easy, the upgrade price is the difference between the ALK2 and ALK2 Solo prices.
