

Embody Partners with Audeze to Deliver Remastered REVEAL+ Virtual Studio Plugin

Audeze, an audio technology brand and premium headphone manufacturer, and Embody, a company specialized in immersive, personalized spatial audio, today announced the launch of the remastered Reveal+ virtual studio plugin. This remastered version of Reveal+ delivers the next breakthrough in harnessing cloud computing and artificial intelligence to mix virtually on Audeze headphones. Reveal+ gives producers a visceral experience of feeling like they're in a world-class studio without being there. The result is producers can make better-informed mix decisions from the comfort of their Audeze headphones. Reveal+ is available for download now on Audeze's website.

Key New Features:

- Your Personalized HRTF, now even more precise - Embody's enhanced AI algorithms now predict an even more precise HRTF for your ears, to give you the most accurate spatial listening experience on headphones.
- Remastered sound - With an additional control parameter called HRTF Intensity, users can now adjust the sound field depth in order to hear finer details in their mix. Featuring Grammy-winning studios and artists - Two new virtual studios designed and operated by Grammy and Multi-Platinum award-winning artist Bob Horn and Erik Reichers, Echo Bar Studios.
- Partnering with music academies - Added premier Diamond Suite control room located at SAE Expression College in Emeryville, CA.
- Refreshed User Interface - A sleek and intuitive UI for the best virtual studio mixing experience.

Harnessing the Power of AI & Cloud Computing

In the new release of Reveal+, Embody enhanced its artificial intelligence-driven technology called Immerse, which computes your personalized audio profile or HRTF in under 30 seconds. Immerse has an improved ear extraction feature, which produces a better Personalized HRTF. As a result, the new Reveal+ gives you a greater sense of feeling that you're in a world-class sound studio that has depth with the monitors delivering sound from a distance in front of you. Audio panning is even more manageable; it is easier to declutter your mix. The greater sense of depth allows you to hear timing and phase correlations better and, thus, details in your mix more accurately.
